

Beginning January 28, 2019, people in your classes who normally get Remind texts will no longer receive your messages if they have wireless plans with Rogers Canada or its respective subsidiaries.

How will this affect you?

Beginning January 28, 2019, people in your classes who normally get Remind texts will no longer receive your messages if they have wireless plans with Rogers Canada or its respective subsidiaries.

What can you do?

To make sure people in your classes continue receiving your messages, encourage them to download the mobile app or enable email notifications. Our team's also working hard on a solution that allows your classes to continue to use Remind by text, and we'll share more details with you before January 28.

UPDATE:

We're thrilled to share the news: Thanks to you, Bell Canada has informed us that they will #ReverseTheFee. As a result, we can continue to offer Remind text notifications for everyone who has a phone plan with Bell Canada or its subsidiaries.

There will be no service disruption for anyone on the Bell network, and we're grateful for Bell's commitment to supporting accessible communication for all educators, students, and parents in Canada.

Unfortunately, text notifications will still be ending on Monday, January 28 for anyone with Rogers Canada or its subsidiaries. To continue receiving Remind messages, they'll need to download the mobile app or enable email notifications, both of which are free to use.

But in the last few weeks, we've seen the difference that educators can make. To ensure that every teacher, student, and parent in Canada can continue using Remind—no matter their phone carrier—please keep making your voice heard by asking Rogers to #ReverseTheFee at 1-855-381-7834 and on social media.

Sincerely,
The Remind team
